Stick On Blanket Removal

Removal of stick-on blanket material from the carrier blanket is usually difficult and time consuming. Removal of the blanket usually results in tearing, leaving the backing plys and the glue.

Most removal procedures are accomplished by placing the blanket assembly flat. This method does not allow the solvents to soften the glue.

The recommended method is to hang the carrier blanket over an edge such as a table. Apply a small bead of solvent across the top edge of the stick-on blanket. This will soften the glue. Slowly pull down the stick-on blanket approximately 1/2", apply another bead of roller wash across the glue edge and pull the stick-on blanket down another 1/2". Repeat steps until blanket is removed.

Note the glue has been dissolved during removal and a minimal amount is left on the carrier blanket.
